CITY OF WODONGA VIC

Draft Economic Development Strategy

ENGAGEMENT SNAPSHOT

FEEDBACK

SUMMARY - KEY POINTS RAISED

- The need for better connected and safe active transport options
- Opposition to increased industrial development
- Stronger support for performing arts
- Greater recognition of the provision of social, affordable and key worker housing
- Inclusion of partnerships with private enterprise as a significant action in this strategy
- Greater consideration should be given to long-term factors which will impact the economic viability of the area
- A request for greater specificity regarding the Economic Opportunities noted within the document and an outline of how council will harness these opportunities
- A request for greater detail regarding pillars two and three
- Notes regarding the economic development project opportunities in section 6.4, identifying some projects that might not be the role of council
- A request to review the indicative performance measures and monitoring tools to make them more specific and relevant to council actions and allow businesses to better assess the performance of council's efforts in economic development

  Thank you for the opportunity to comment on Wodonga's Draft Economic Development Strategy.
  Wodonga is a unique and relatively compact city compared to other sprawling Australian cities. And yet, the majority of residents here are forced to rely on their privately owned cars for transport.
  Based on data from other cities, I'd estimate over 60% of car trips that start and end in Wodonga are for distances of under 5km. This distance is easily cycled, walked, scooted, or mobility scooted; but only if the infrastructure exists to facilitate such trips.
  While Wodonga has many recreational paths for active transport, safe and segregated "A to B" paths are almost entirely absent, forcing Wodonga residents to rely on their cars for most errands. Cars are expensive to own and operate.
  In car dependent urban environments, an average 2 car Australian household can spend over 25% of their annual household income on transport costs. While a small portion of this money goes to local dealerships, service centres, and service stations, the vast majority of this money leaves the local area.
  If Wodonga residents had safe and realistic alternatives to car travel, they could significantly reduce their transportation costs; providing families here with more disposable income to spend at local businesses.
  Studies repeatedly demonstrate that increased incidental exercise results in improved physical and mental health of residents, potentially reducing demand on our health system.
  Reduced car travel also reduces demand on public road infrastructure, more potential financial wins for Wodonga.
  Finally, barriers to active travel are also barriers to transportation equity. Improving active travel infrastructure within Wodonga will also be a win for those with mobility impairments.
  Given all of this, I request council review their relatively passive role in advocating for active travel (as is currently listed in the Draft Economic Development Strategy).
  With the plethora of social and financial benefits to be gained from providing Wodonga's residents with viable alternatives to driving, Wodonga council has every reason to adopt a lead role in active transport facilitation and infrastructure improvements within our city.
  Thanks for your time.

FEEDBACK

- Andrew Baker
  There appears to be a presumption that residents of Wodonga are generally in favour of increased industrial development for the purpose of economic growth.
  I am not in favour of initiatives which significatnly increase the population of Wodonga. Wodonga will gradually lose its appeal as it becomes just another City.
  That being said, the support of growth as required of important Defence infrustructure is important and warranted.
  I note the support of events sector metioned. Wodonga still declines to offer any real tangible support to the Albury Wodonga Eisteddfod or other performing arts opportunities.
  Whilst there is a youth driven program, they need more leadership and support in order to provide well aimed and supported youth events. Retro Youth Cafe in Albury and the church youth programs are good examples of successful initiatives.
  As a music teacher in Wodonga for over a decade I have been dissapointed to see Wodonga City gradually roll back support in this area.
  Gateway Village is a fantastic opportunity to create a tourist and community draw card and make up for the sad state of affairs that is the main street of Wodonga after dark. Please, please don't mess it up or give in to big business franchises.

- Alan Takle
  On my initial review I noted:
  - Page 8 Figure 4 Regional Catchment: I'm surprised the Rural City of Wangaratta or at least the township of Wangaratta was not included in this graphic.
  - Page 8 Typo: "Figure 4 illustrates the .....", should read "Figure 5 illustrates the....."
  - Page 10: 2.2 Regional Documents: I'm surprised the NEWMAH report didn't make it here for consideration. May be focused too far south?
  - Generally:
    - Whilst mentioned however not emphasised, the provision of social, affordable and key worker housing demands greater recognition to driving economic development in the region. Having just completed a Regional Worker Accommodation Fund (RWAF) application, the social and economic value per bed/dwelling of new supply is significant. The opportunity cost of low affordable housing supply to the wider region not being provided is noted as $160m per annum compounding (NEWMAH Report). I understand if the view was taken that this report included areas too far south/east for the Strategy's specificity.
    - Housing Australia, I did not find any reference to this Federal Government Body. Housing Australia being the Mandated Govt Agency to execute the Investment Mandate to the Housing Australia Future Fund plays a significant role in the economic development of the Wodonga region.
    - Whilst mentioned at three positions in the document, the promotion of Partnerships with private enterprise is not a significant action in this strategy. As a social enterprise Nestd partners with Local Government at scale driving economic development well above $100m per project in initial spend, plus the consequential social and economic value derived over the asset life. I feel this Draft Strategy would benefit significantly highlighting more prominently the benefit of partnerships with social enterprises and NFP's.

  In summary, the body of work completed to precis the strategy as contained in the draft must be recognised and applauded. The easiest role to play in the formation of this document is that of a critic.
  Without any caveats I do recognise and support the excellent work demonstrated here and look forward to reading the final and published strategy.
  I would be pleased to participate in any further capacity you may deem appropriate, and look forward to receiving updates on the progress of this strategy.

Re: Business Wodonga Feedback on Draft Economic Development Strategy

The Leadership and Operations Teams of Business Wodonga thank-you for the opportunity to provide feedback on Council's Draft Economic Development Strategy.

You will find on the following five pages our feedback on this Strategy. Getting this Strategy right is vital for Wodonga as a growing city, and we trust that you will take our considered and team agreed response into account before adopting the Strategy as it is currently exists in Draft form.

Yours faithfully,

Graham Jenkin

Response to Draft Economic Strategy.

Economic Development summary
Business Wodonga's Leadership Team has conducted a thorough review of the Draft Economic Development Strategy. We are of the opinion that the strategy requires revision to enhance its focus, depth, and to include performance measures that are more precisely aligned with the objectives presented.

We would welcome the opportunity to engage in a detailed discussion with relevant staff and councillors from City of Wodonga regarding the Draft Economic Development Strategy, to provide a more in-depth perspective than what is encapsulated in this submission.

Below is an analysis of each section we have identified as necessitating commentary. Where identical information recurs within the Draft Economic Development Strategy, we have noted that these points will be addressed later in our submission.

2.5 Macroeconomic context
We assert that some of the external economic factors identified on pages 13 and 14 are related to short-term issues, which, although relevant in the near term, may diminish in relevance over the medium to long term. Examples such as fluctuations in cost-of-living pressures demonstrate this point, as these can shift significantly within a few months if the broader national economic trends were to alter.

It is proposed Council gives greater consideration to long-term factors which will impact the economic viability of the area, such as availability and efficiency of essential services, high-quality and well-maintained infrastructure and transport networks, access to and availability of land for future growth and development, improved health-care services and sustainability and climate resilience, etc.

5.4 Economic Opportunities
Economic Opportunities outlined on page 22 is too broad or does not contain enough information. We make comment on each of the outlined Economic Opportunities as follows:

- Continue to develop and improve access to Logic precinct to attract industry investment. – Business Wodonga agrees in principle with this economic opportunity.

- Capitalise on Junction Place project to attract commercial (ie. retail, entertainment, hospitality) and mixed-use developments. - This is a very broad statement. Business Wodonga agrees in principle with this economic opportunity, however, fails to understand within this document how Wodonga Council plans to harness this opportunity.

- Leverage the pipeline of major private and public infrastructure projects to support economic growth and attract flow-on business investment. - This is a very broad statement. Business Wodonga agrees in principle with this economic opportunity, however, fails to understand within this document how Wodonga Council plans to harness this opportunity.

- Strategically plan for development infrastructure (eg. water) to service zoned land in order to attract industry and residential investment. - Business Wodonga agrees in principle with this economic opportunity, noting Wodonga Councils reliance on other stakeholders to deliver this Economic Opportunity.

- Support infill residential development on existing serviced land to accommodate residents and workers. - This is a very broad statement with little explanation of when or how this will be achieved.

- Activate state-owned land within the CBA to expand the range of commercial precincts. – This is a very broad statement. Business Wodonga agrees in principle with this economic opportunity, however, fails to understand within this document how Wodonga Council plans to harness this opportunity.

- Collaboration with the private sector and higher education to support training and employment pathways - It is the view of Business Wodonga that this is not an area that Wodonga Council should be focusing.

- Commercialise research and development resources across higher education facilities to support the attraction of future (and emerging) industries, such as advanced manufacturing – This is broad and hard to understand. Business Wodonga believes that this needs to be rewritten and have Project Opportunities directly related to this economic opportunity.

- Support the events sector, focusing on community and sporting events, to promote resident wellbeing and grow the visitor economy. - This is a very broad statement. Business Wodonga agrees in principle with this economic opportunity, however, fails to understand within this document how Wodonga Council plans to harness this opportunity.

- Grow ecosystem of organisations involved in defence-related activity, including support services, manufacturing and research. - This is a very broad statement. Business Wodonga agrees in principle with this economic opportunity, however, fails to understand within this document how Wodonga Council plans to harness this opportunity.

- Collaborate with regional, state and national entities (including government and private sector) to support investment priorities and achieve economic and employment outcomes. - This is a very broad statement. Business Wodonga agrees in principle with this economic opportunity, however, fails to understand within this document how Wodonga Council plans to harness this opportunity.

- Activate Gateway Village through the development of contemporary arts and culture product, to support community and lifestyle outcomes. – This statement fails to provide rational for Economic Development outcomes for Wodonga.

Pillar 2 Areas of Focus

We make the following observations regarding Pillar 2 – Areas of Focus on page 27 of the report.

High-amenity activity centres and shopping precincts. - Business Wodonga supports the concept however needs more information to be fully supported.
Placemaking - Business Wodonga supports the concept however needs more information to be fully supported.
Business Development and productivity - Business Wodonga believe this needs to be more specific to be supported. We believe that this is the role of Business Wodonga and other local stakeholders, not Wodonga Council. Should this initiative be supported by council, we believe that the only role Wodonga Council should take is by providing funding to an external party like Business Wodonga to undertake training.

Pillar 3 Regional Lifestyle

We make the following observations regarding Pillar 3 – Areas of Focus on page 27 of the report.

Accessible and high-quality services - Business Wodonga supports the concept however needs more information to be fully supported. We question the role the Economic Development team will play in this space.
Community and recreation infrastructure - Business Wodonga supports the concept however needs more information to be fully supported.
Diverse housing infrastructure - Business Wodonga supports the concept however needs more information to be fully supported.

6.4 Economic development project opportunities.

We make the following observations regarding 6.4 Economic development project opportunities on pages 28 to 33 of the report.

1. We believe that many of the Economic Opportunities listed in 6.4 are outside of councils' area of expertise or influence. We believe that many of the project opportunities lack depth.

Project 1 – Business Wodonga supports this project opportunity.
Project 2 - Business Wodonga supports this project opportunity.
Project 3 – Business Wodonga supports this project opportunity.
Project 4 – Business Wodonga believe this needs to be more specific to be supported.
Project 5 - Business Wodonga supports the concept however needs more information to be fully supported.

Project 6 - Business Wodonga supports the concept however needs more information to be fully supported.
Project 7 – Business Wodonga supports the concept however needs more information to be fully supported.
Project 8 - Business Wodonga believe this needs to be more specific to be supported.
Project 9 - Business Wodonga believe this needs to be more specific to be supported. We believe that this is the role of Business Wodonga and other local stakeholders, not Wodonga Council. Should this initiative be supported by council, we believe that the only role Wodonga Council should take is providing funding to an external party like Business Wodonga to undertake training. The Australian Government's Department of Employment & Workforce Relations Local Jobs Program Employment Facilitator should be included as a key stakeholder.
Project 10 - Business Wodonga supports this project opportunity to ensure "trunk" infrastructure has adequate planning on all levels for the expansion of both residential and industrial developments.
Project 11 - Business Wodonga believe this needs to be more specific to be supported. Again, as above with Project 9. This is the role of other stakeholders, should Council believe that this is important, they should fund external stakeholders like Business Wodonga to undertake the work.
Project 12 - Business Wodonga supports some of the concept however needs more information to be fully supported. We cannot support any action by Wodonga Council that could have potential planning implications.
Project 13- Business Wodonga supports the concept however needs more information to be fully supported.
Project 14 - Business Wodonga supports the concept however needs more information to be fully supported. We cannot support any action by Wodonga Council that could have potential planning implications.
Project 15- Business Wodonga supports the concept however needs more information to be fully supported.

Indicative performance measures and monitoring tools.
We believe that the Indicative performance measures and monitoring tools need to be reviewed tools outlined in pages 34 & 35. We ask that a better use of directly affected lead, lag, qualitative and quantitative measure be selected that allow Wodonga rate paying business to better assess the performance of councils' efforts in Economic Development.
Several indicators might be seen as taking credit for efforts one did not initially advocate for or contribute to.
On page 34 & 35 of the document where Indicative performance measures and monitoring tools are listed, we make the following suggestions.

- Increase in public infrastructure investment - could be re-written as Increase in public infrastructure investment that was initiated by Wodonga Council.

- Increase in supply of serviced employment and residential land – This cannot be directly measured back to the performance of Wodonga Council.

- Increase in investment enquiries for commercial and industrial businesses – This could be re-written to number of businesses not already situated in Wodonga targeted and met by Wodonga Council on an annual basis.

- Growth in the volume of large businesses (ie. 200+ employees) – This could be rewritten as a lag indicator to the above. Being number of large businesses originally targeted and met by Wodonga Council that established their business in Wodonga.

- Growth in business-related activities (including expos, business events, conferences, etc.) – This could be rewritten as number of/attendance at expos and conferences run directly by Wodonga Council.

- Growth in volume of exports and trade - This cannot be directly measured back to the performance of Wodonga Council.

- Increase in local consumption - This cannot be directly measured back to the performance of Wodonga Council.

- Increase in the number and frequency of public transport services - This cannot be directly measured back to the performance of Wodonga Council.

- Increase in working-aged residents - This cannot be directly measured back to the performance of the Wodonga Council.

- Increase in labour force participation rates and local employment - This cannot be directly measured back to the performance of Wodonga Council.

- Growth in housing supply and housing diversity - This cannot be directly measured back to the performance of Wodonga Council.

- Investment in community and recreation infrastructure

- Improvements in community satisfaction (via surveys/ primary research) - This cannot be directly measured back to the performance in respect to Economic Development within Wodonga Council.
